A NATIONAL DISGRACE.

Let every intelligent reader bear this fact in mind, that every electoral vote of a state except two, which stands for the United States senatorship, is credited to that state on account of a congressional district electing a member of the house of representatives. It is also very important to understand that at the congressional election of 1886 there were twenty-five congressional districts in the south whose aggregate republican vote for the entire twenty-five districts, was only 720, hardly any more than half of the republican vote of the city of Janesville. The following table will be found quite interesting as illustrating the depths of political infamy the democrats of the south have reached in robbing the republicans of the ballot. Here is the democratic vote also the republican or the opposition vote in each of the twenty-five congressional districts:

| District. | Democratic vote. | Opposition. |
|---|---|---|
| First Alabama | 4,220 | 16 |
| Second Alabama | 5,650 | None. |
| Third Alabama | 4,889 | 2 |
| First Arkansas | 5,052 | None. |
| Fifth Arkansas | 4,746 | None. |
| First Georgia | 2,061 | 17 |
| Second Georgia | 2,411 | None. |
| Third Georgia | 1,704 | None. |
| Fourth Georgia | 2,050 | 340 |
| Fifth Georgia | 2,909 | None. |
| Sixth Georgia | 1,722 | None. |
| Eighth Georgia | 2,377 | 55 |
| Ninth Georgia | 2,385 | 11 |
| Tenth Georgia | 1,904 | None. |
| Fourth Louisiana | 5,747 | 12 |
| First Mississippi | 3,149 | 27 |
| Fourth Mississippi | 2,904 | 122 |
| Fifth Mississippi | 4,289 | 27 |
| Seventh Mississippi | 4,508 | 6 |
| First South Carolina | 3,315 | 3 |
| Second South Carolina | 5,212 | 27 |
| Third South Carolina | 4,402 | 4 |
| Fourth South Carolina | 4,751 | None. |
| Fifth South Carolina | 3,910 | 5 |
| Sixth South Carolina | 4,411 | 58 |
| Total | 93,012 | 720 |

Can there be a greater political crime than such democratic methods as these? What is the remedy? Section II, of article XIV of the Constitution, provides that when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president, representatives in congress, and so on, is denied, to any of the male inhabitants of any state, or that such right to vote is in any way abridged, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of male citizens shall bear to the whole number of the male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

Here is the law, and the duty of congress is plain. Just why one vote in the south should count for as much as twenty five in the north, cannot be answered satisfactory.

ONE CENT POSTAGE.

Senator Sawyer is a member of the committee on postoffices, and has always taken a lively interest in the reduction of letter postage. The senator was in Milwaukee the other day, and on an interview on the postage question he said, "it would not be long before a one-cent rate will be established. As a member of the postoffice committee I have had occasion to look up the subject of postage in different countries and the result shows that the United States carries newspapers cheaper than any country in the world, and only in England are letters carried more cheaply than here. The rate there is a penny, equivalent to two cents of our money."

The senator thinks that the reduction of postage from 2 to 1 cent will greatly stimulate letter postage, and on that point he said: "In the first place, it has largely diminished the use of postal cards—surprisingly so. Business men who send out a large number of circulars now generally seal the envelopes, preferring to pay the extra cent. So many circulars of an advertising nature are sent out that a large proportion of the recipients throw them away without taking the trouble to look at them. Naturally, when an envelope comes sealed, a person doesn't throw it away unopened, and business men figure that it pays to expend an extra cent in sending out circulars."

It has been since Senator Sawyer's service on the postoffice committee that the green Washington stamp costing three cents has been displaced by the green and sometimes reddish-brown stamp of the 2-cent denomination. At the same time the weight permissable was doubled and the rate on newspapers chopped in two. On the reduction question as it affects the finances, the senator said: "When the cut in letter postage was made," "there was a surplus in the earnings of the postoffice department. The reduction in newspaper postage cut off just a million of revenue. I estimated that the changes from three to two cents in letter postage would cause a deficiency in the finances of the department of about $10,000,000. It proved to be somewhat less than that, however, and the department is again nearing the point where it will be self-sustaining."

Judge Gresham was born and reared in Harrison county, Indiana, a county that has always gone democratic from away back except when the judge himself was a candidate, and then it would vote for him. The people of that county were intensely anxious to have the judge nominated at the Chicago convention and were greatly disappointed when he was not. It was feared by some of General Harrison's friends that they would be so cold during the campaign that Cleveland would largely increase the majority he had over Blaine four years ago. But that did not happen. They took off their coats and went to work for the nominee with all their might, and the result was they cut down the democratic majority 230 votes, after the fiercest fight that has come off in that county for many an election.

In April 1885, the Boston Post, a democratic paper, printed the following. "Mr. Cleveland remarked the other day to an Indianian: 'Young man, you will never see the end of democratic administration in this country. The democracy are here to stay.' The president wishes to give the idea that the administration of the government will so thoroughly command the admiration and the respect of the people that they will never want the republican party in power again." Mr. Cleveland is as much of a failure as a prophet as he is as a president.

There are all sorts of ways among democrats of explaining the democratic defeat. Here is one from Richmond Whig, (dem.) The democratic party is not dead. It has met disaster on account of incompetent leadership, but when it reverses the recent order of things and puts its real statesmen to the front and its cranks to the rear, instead of its cranks to the front and its statesmen to the rear, it will again deserve and receive the confidence of the people, and be again intrusted with the destinies of the Nation.

Among all the post election dispatches that went over the wires, none reached the pathos and beauty of that sent by Mr. Harrison to Warner Miller:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., November 9.—To Hon. Warner Miller, Herkimer, N. Y.: I am greatly grieved at your defeat. If the intrepid leader fell outside the breastworks, the column, inspired by his courage, went on to victory.

BENJAMIN HARRISON."

Neither Chauncey M. Depew, nor Blaine, nor Garfield, all especially noted for the strength and beauty with which they could clothe a telegraphic tribute, could excel Harrison's telegram to Miller.

It is said that Dr. William H. Scott, a clerk in the pension office at Washington on a $1,500 salary, would seem to be in the direct line of promotion. He is president Harrison's father-in-law. A father-in-law ought to stand pretty well with the incoming administration.

The greatest consolation that can be suggested to Mr. Cleveland in the hour of his galling defeat, is a certain paragraph in a certain letter in which he said that a second term of the presidency was a bad thing for the country. The people thought as Mr. Cleveland did.

In the terrible disaster that has befallen the democratic party, where, oh where, is the Rev. John A. Brooks, the rebel that ran for vice president on the prohibition ticket? If his political corpse can be found it should be buried—well, not with the benefit of clergy.

No democratic president has been re-elected since Jackson. One term of a democratic administration makes the people perfectly satisfied not to have any more of it.

Mr. Carl Schurz has started home from Germany. He will find a great improvement in this country since he left it. The nation has redeemed itself.

When this administration is shipped back to Buffalo, the query is whether Jones will pay the freight.

The best prize story of the season is the story of the ballots.

KILLED BY HIS WIFE.

A Drunken Husband Attempts to Beat His Spouse and Receives a Bullet Through the Heart.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 12.—W. A. Schumaker, postmaster at Carbon Hill, Walker County, forty miles west of this city, was on Saturday, shot and instantly killed by his wife, who is only 17 years old and to whom he has been married only a short time. Schumaker had been drinking heavily since the election. Saturday morning he attacked his wife and threatened to burn her to death in oil. She disarmed him at once and when he attacked her the second time she drew a pistol and shot him through the heart. She then attempted to shoot herself but was prevented. Schumaker was one of the most prominent citizens of Walker County. Mrs. Schumaker has been arrested.

An Aged Priest Badly Hurt.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Father James Cullen, a Catholic priest, 84 years of age, was fatally injured Saturday evening by a switch engine of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad. Father Cullen was crossing the track at Twenty-fourth street, on his way to All Saints Church when the engine suddenly approached him, and in his efforts to get away he slipped and fell, his head striking the rail, while two ribs were broken by the locomotive. He was removed to Mercy Hospital in a dying condition.

Shut in by Snow.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 12.—This city was cut off from the outside world from noon Friday until Saturday afternoon. The snow, which commenced falling at 6 o'clock Friday morning, was eight inches deep before dark, and all the telephone and telegraph wires were down. Trains were delayed from four to six hours on all roads entering the city from the north.

Why Women Fade.

Women lose their beauty because colds undermine their life. Dr. Acker's English Remedy for consumption is an absolute cure for colds. Prentice & Evenson, druggists.

Across the Continent.

From the Atlantic seaboard daily journey thousands of immigrants, boats of enterprising tourists for pleasure, occasional European seekers for material for books on America, multitudes of hardy native and foreign agriculturists and artisans, all eager, all expectant, but all unaccustomed to the new climate of the frontier, and all unfit—unless protected with a medicine safeguard, to encounter malaria, the chief foe to health in regions newly cleared and opened up for settlement. These western-bound travelers will find in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters the safety from material infection they might vainly seek from other sources. Tried in all parts of the world, under exigencies the best fitted to show its value, it has failed nowhere under the most exacting conditions. In so many lands is it in request that the demand for it may well be termed universal. Not only malaria, but constipation, dispepsia, biliousness, rheumatism, debility, nervousness and inaction of the kidneys, are thoroughly relieved by it.

FORESAW DEFEAT.

President Cleveland Said to Have Predicted a Republican Victory.

HE WILL WRITE ANOTHER TARIFF MESSAGE

President-Elect Harrison at Church—Dan Lamont's Probable Successor—The Latest Returns from the Election.

CLEVELAND EXPECTED TO BE BEATEN.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 12.—Ex-Judge W. W. Rucker, a Democrat well known throughout the State, has returned to Denver after a visit of several weeks in the East. While in Washington, before election day, he called at the White House to find out, if possible, how Mr. Cleveland regarded his chances. Judge Rucker represents Mr. Cleveland as having said:

"In the existing situation of affairs in New York I consider it impossible for me to be re-elected. Mayor Hewitt is running, I think, to make my re-election impossible. He does not like me and never did. I am strongly of the opinion that we will lose New York through the trading of Hewitt, Grant and Governor Hill. I also concede Connecticut to the Republicans, while Indiana is too close for calculation. Of course New Jersey will prove Democratic. Personally I do not care about the result, but I would regret very much to see the Democratic party sustain a defeat at this time."

Judge Rucker says there were in attendance with him at the interview with the President Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, and Secretary of War Endicott.

GORMAN'S VIEW OF THE RESULT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Senator Gorman while in Washington Friday was interviewed on the results of the campaign. "The contest," said he, "was fought out upon the line of policy laid down by the President in his message and by the action of the Democratic majority in the House. The tariff issue was ever present throughout the campaign, and it seems as though the Republicans have made the country believe that we were committed to free trade, and the people pronounced against it. Our position was grossly misrepresented, as our party has not at any time declared for free trade, but simply for a reduction of excessive taxation, but the catch-words of the canvass were all against us. We have gone down in a contest entirely free from personalities, a fact upon which the country is to be congratulated."

CLEVELAND'S FORTHCOMING MESSAGE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—President Cleveland will commence his annual message to Congress during the present week, and, like the document that he sent in a year ago, it will be devoted almost exclusively to the tariff. He will urge Congress, without regard to party policy, to pass a bill for the reduction of the revenues, and will urge the Democrats as well as the Republicans to make concessions in order that it may be accomplished.

HARRISON AT CHURCH.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 12.—General Harrison began the week well by attending the services at the First Presbyterian Church, where Dr. Haynes preached on the everywhereness of God, to use his own term. The church was densely crowded. The President-elect came to the edifice on foot with his wife on his arm in most democratic simplicity. Both of them were very plainly dressed, and both were very happy. General Harrison stopped to shake hands with a few old friends and nodded to others. There was no reference to the election in the sermon, the pastor having been informed that General Harrison preferred that nothing should be said.

LAMONT'S PROBABLE SUCCESSOR.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—There is a great deal of gossip in Washington as to the probable successor of Colonel Lamont. As the private secretary to the President is the medium through which the Executive is reached, there is naturally curiosity as to whom the public will have to apply on executive business after the 4th of March next. It has been stated that ex-Fifth Auditor Alexander, who is an intimate friend of General Harrison, would be the appointee. This announcement is at best premature, and Colonel Alexander, since it was made, has been quoted as saying that he does not expect or want the place. From the best information obtainable in Washington at this time it would appear that the gentleman most likely to be selected for the private secretaryship is Mr. Perry S. Heath, the special correspondent of the Indianapolis Journal, who is also a warm personal friend of General Harrison. The name of Russell Harrison, son of the President-elect, has been mentioned, but there are believed to be reasons why the General would prefer not to have his son fill the position.

HARRISON AND THE CIVIL-SERVICE LAW.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—In an interview Civil-Service Commissioner Lyman said: "I have a very decided impression that Mr. Harrison's Administration will be a practical Civil-Service reform Administration. I see no reason why he should not execute the law in good faith and extend it to branches of the Government service to which it has not been applied. His letter of acceptance indicates that is his attitude on the subject. I believe that he was entirely sincere in the statements in that letter, and that Civil-Service reform will have no set-back by reason of the change of administration."

A CONTEST IN DELAWARE.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 12.—Delaware Democrats propose to contest the election of State Senator-elect Richardson. By depriving him of his seat the Legislature will be a tie and the Governor will appoint a Democrat to the United States Senate.

SATISFIED WITH THE RESULT.

ROME, Nov. 12.—The vatican authorities express satisfaction with the election of Mr. Harrison, at whose hands the Catholic interests of America are not expected to suffer.

CONDENSED ELECTION RETURNS.

The latest estimate on the plurality for Fifer for Governor of Illinois is 13,000.

Returns from thirty-nine counties in Indiana show that the vote for Fisk was 5,719. The same counties in 1884 gave St. John 1,649, and in 1886 Gale 5,004, showing a gain over 1884 of 24.6 per cent. and over 1886 of 10 per cent. If the same rate of gain is sustained in other counties the total vote in the State will be about 10,000.

Both parties claim West Virginia—the Democrats by from 300 to 1,000 majority, and the Republicans by 300. It is said the latter have secured the Legislature, adding another to the Republican list in the United States Senate. The Republicans claim to have gained one Congressman.

The official result in Virginia is not yet known, but a Democratic majority of 4,000 for Cleveland will probably be shown when the count is finished.

In California additional returns on the vote for President show a total of 110,734 for Harrison and 103,258 for Cleveland, with 5,000 or 6,000 votes to hear from.

Nebraska returns indicate a Republican gain of 8,000 in the State and 30,000 plurality for Harrison, with an increase in the aggregate vote of Nebraska of 53,000 over that of four years ago. Governor Thayer's majority will be between 20,000 and 22,000.

Complete returns from all the towns and wards in New Hampshire gave Harrison, 45,728; Cleveland, 45,444; Fisk, 1,570. Harrison's plurality is 2,284. For Governor there is no choice. The Legislature being Republican, however, will choose Goodell.

Full returns from Oregon have not been received but sufficient figures are in to justify Harrison's majority in the State being estimated at not less than 7,500.

In Washington Territory John B. Allen's majority over Voorhees (Dem.) for Delegate to Congress will not be less than 5,000.

Montana gives Carter (Rep.) for Congress 4,700 majority and the Legislature will have a large Republican majority.

A plurality of 78,810 for Harrison is shown by the returns so far received in Pennsylvania. There are yet four counties to be heard from.

Returns from all but seven counties in Georgia show Cleveland's plurality to be 38,237. An entire Democratic delegation is elected to Congress.

RIOT IN MADRID.

The Leader of the Spanish Conservatives, Senor Canovas del Castillo, Mobbed.

MADRID, Nov. 12.—The arrival of Senor Canovas del Castillo from Seville Sunday was the occasion of a hostile outburst of the populace. A mob of Republicans followed the carriage which he entered at the railroad station and pelted it with stones. Madame del Castillo was hit, but not seriously hurt. The Conservative leader finally reached a place of safety, but serious outbreaks occurred in front of the Conservative club and Conservative newspaper office. The windows of the Epoca were smashed with stones. There was, however, no collision with the police and no general fighting. The agitation abated at noon, but was renewed about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and continued until ten at night, the crowd thereafter gradually dispersing. So great was the clamor that the Conservative club was compelled to close its doors. Bundles of conservative journals were burned in the streets in the evening. During the disturbance the Marquiss Casa Miranda, the husband of Christine Nillsson, confronted a crowd in front of his residence and demanded to know what they wanted. The crowd shouted "Death to Conservatives." The Marquess invited the leader of the mob inside but the invitation was not accepted.

SNUBBED MRS. CLEVELAND.

The Daughter of Minister West Refuses to Recognize the President's Wife.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—There is a story going around to the effect that one day last week Miss West, daughter of the late English Minister, was in a store on the avenue and with her was a well-known member of the Italian legation. While they were talking over a purchase Mrs. Cleveland's carriage drove up to the curb and she came in. She spoke to the gentleman and for a moment talked with him, and then stepped toward Miss West and extended her hand in greeting. But the young lady would have none of it. She had not quite forgotten how Mrs. Cleveland's husband had snubbed her father, and with a haughty grace she folded her hands in front of her and turned her back on the President's wife. The situation was embarrassing, but in a moment Mrs. Cleveland turned away, made a few purchases and departed.

SEVENTY PERSONS DROWNED.

Heavy Loss of Life in the Collision Between the Theodore Rugin and Nantes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Theodore Ruger & Co. of 60 New street have received a dispatch from Trouville, France, that their steamship Theodore Rugin had foundered in the British channel after collision with a supposed French ship, and that all on board had perished. The French ship mentioned is the Nantes of the Cunard line. At the office of the Cunard line it was learned that the Nantes is one of three small steamships that ply between Liverpool and Havre. Captain Adolph Meyer, of the Rugin, her two mates and five seamen were rescued and landed at Trouville. The rest, sixteen in all, are missing. There were about sixty men on the Nantes, besides a valuable cargo. This places the total loss of life at between seventy and eighty. The financial loss is about $500,000.

THE ROCHESTER DISASTER.

Eleven Men Known to Be Killed—Twenty-Seven Others Supposed to Be Victims.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Forty men were set to work Sunday morning excavating the debris of the steam gauge and lantern works burned Friday night. Two more charred bodies were taken from the ruins, making eleven so far known to have been killed.

There are twenty-one known to be missing and six others who are thought to be victims. In blowing up the walls with dynamite this morning about twenty-five feet of double fire-wall topped over on the adjoining building and crushed the roof and six floors into the sub-basement. The walls were left standing. The damage will amount to about $25,000.

Deacon, Swindler and Bigamist.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Marion D. Newman, who was recently arrested at the instance of Miss Kate Smith, a department clerk for alleged breach of promise, and obtaining money under false pretenses, is still in jail. The detectives found from his correspondence that he was ordained a Methodist deacon by Bishop Haven in Maine in 1870, and an elder by Bishop Simpson in New Jersey in 1878. It also appears that he has a wife in Indianapolis, another in Jackson, Tenn., and another in Philadelphia.

Jumped from a Bridge.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 12.—Sarah B. Farrer, of Keene, N. H., aged 19 years, a student in the Freshman class of Smith College, Northampton, jumped from the Massachusetts Central railroad bridge into the Connecticut river Sunday, a distance of sixty feet, and was drowned. Her father died recently and it is supposed that melancholy had unsettled her mind. She was an attractive young lady and a general favorite in her class.

Can Not Get Well.

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 12.—A special to the Waterbury Daily Republican from Lime Rock states that the critical condition of W. H. Barnum, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, remains unchanged. He had intervals of unconsciousness during the day, and it was believed that he could not possibly recover.

The Snow-Storm in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 12.—Considerable damage was done by the snow-storm which raged on Friday and Friday night. The storm was accompanied by a high wind which prostrated telegraph wires in Missouri, Kansas and Colorado. Railroad travel is also impeded on most of the roads centering in this city.

ANARCHISTS MOURN.

Tributes to Spies, Parsons, Engel, Fischer and Lingg.

THOUSANDS VISIT THEIR GRAVES.

The Anniversary of the Execution of the "Martyrs" Observed in Chicago and Other Cities—Parson's Last Letter to His Children.

AT ANARCHY'S TOMB.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Between 4,000 and 5,000 men and women braved the bleak November wind and stood for two hours on the damp sod in Waldheim Cemetery Sunday afternoon to do honor to the memories of Spies, Parsons, Engel, Fischer and Lingg. Most of the women were in deep mourning, while the men had crape bands around their coat sleeves or hats, or badges of the same material upon their breasts. Five out of six displayed a red satin ribbon, the symbol of revolution.

As a result of the ultimatum of Mayor Roche there was no parade in the city, although about 150 members of Labor Assembly No. 1, of the Knights of Labor, formerly known as the "Albert R. Parsons" assembly, marched in a body from their hall to the Wisconsin Central depot. At the latter place a number of policemen in civilian attire mingled with the throng. Police-Lieutenant Wilson, who was also at the depot, had received orders to suppress any display of flags at half mast, attempt at parading or playing of funeral music, but there was no effort looking towards a demonstration within the city limits. The early train was packed with people bound for the cemetery, and at noon two special trains, one of fourteen and the other of sixteen coaches, were called into requisition to transport the crowds who besieged the depot.

It was 5 o'clock when the formal exercises at the cemetery commenced. Previous to this a number of magnificent floral offerings had been placed upon the five graves. The various organizations formed in line on the road outside and marched into the cemetery in regular file, preceded by a band of music playing a funeral dirge. The speaker's stand was profusely decorated with ferns, smilax and red ribbon and was located a few feet from the grave lot of the dead Anarchists.

The mother of August Spies, her two sons and daughter, Mrs. Engle and her family, and the two little children left by Parsons, occupied space near the speakers' stand, reserved for the relatives of the dead and imprisoned revolutionists. Nina Van Zandt, Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Fischer were conspicuous by their absence. The first is in Pennsylvania; Mrs. Parsons in London and Mrs. Fischer in St. Louis.

The assemblage was called to order by George A. Schilling, who reminded those present that they had met together on that beautiful autumn day to celebrate the death of five American heroes, and Robert Reitzel, editor of Der Teufel, of Detroit, delivered a brief address in German. He eulogized the executed men and the cause for which they died; said their teachings were those of Thomas Paine, the same that actuated the people of the United States in rebelling against Great Britain, and pointed to the demonstrations held Saturday in New York, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Detroit and other American cities, as well as in London and Paris, as a proof that the dead men were remembered and the cause of anarchy growing. When he had concluded, fifty pupils of the Northwestern Socialist Sunday-School, boys and girls, sang in German the song: "For truth and right."

Then, with a letter in his hand, George Schilling stepped forward and read the letter written by Parsons to his children with the injunction that it was not to be opened until the first anniversary of his death. Schilling broke the seal with a trembling hand and commenced to read with a voice choked with emotion. The effect of the first few sentences upon the audience was electrical. Tears began to roll down the faces of the men and women, and before the reading was completed it seemed as though one weird sob and moan from the thousands of throats was mingling with the wailing of the wind as it swept through the lifeless branches of the trees. The letter in full reads as follows:

"DUNGEON NO. 7, COOK COUNTY JAIL, CHICAGO, Nov. 9, 1887.—To My Darling, Precious Little Children, Albert R. Parsons, Jr., and His Sister, Lulu Eva Parsons: As I write this word I blot your names with a tear. We will never meet again. Oh, my children, how deeply, dearly, your papa loves you. We show our love by living for our loved ones. We also prove our love by dying, when necessary, for them. Of my life and the cause of my cruel death you will learn from others. Your father is a self-offered sacrifice upon the altar of liberty and happiness. To you I leave the legacy of an honest name and a duty done. Preserve it, circulate it. Be true to yourselves, you can not then be false to others. Be sober, industrious and cheerful. Your mother—ah, she is the greatest, the noblest of women, love, honor and obey her. My children, my precious ones, I request you to read this parting message on each recurring anniversary of my death in remembrance of him who dies not alone for you but for the children yet unborn. Bless you, my darlings—farewell.

"Your father,

"ALBERT R. PARSONS."

The weeping and sobbing continued for some minutes after the reading had concluded, when 500 voices of the United Mannerchor sang: "At the Grave of Our Friends."

Other addresses followed in English and German, and after a final song by the Mannerchor the exercises closed and the crowd quietly returned to the city.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The hall in Cooper Union was crowded Saturday night with Anarchists and Socialists assembled to commemorate the execution of their votaries last year in Chicago. Red flags draped in crape were scattered about the hall and the platform was one bower of flaming emblems of anarchy. Portraits of the executed Chicago Anarchists hung in crape in front of the chairman's table and flanked on either side of these were two chalk busts of August Spies and Louis Lingg with a bright scarlet sash stretched across their breasts. A band was stationed on the platform and furnished tunes alternating with dead marches and selections from Weber and other composers. Glee clubs and singing societies contributed to the general entertainment by songs of an insurrectionist character.

Editor Sorgius Schevitch, of the Volks-Zeitung, delivered the first speech. Mr. Schevitch, who spoke in English, eulogized the dead men as martyrs and maintained that their untimely taking off was a disgrace to a country calling itself civilizen. A bitter tirade against the moneyed class and an eloquent eulogy of the Chicago revolutionists brought the speech to a close, and then, after the Musical Progressive Union had rendered Chopin's "Funeral March" and Heine's popular poem, "The Weaver," had been sung, Johann Most came forward in response to much applause and proceeded to eulogize his dead colleagues. As was to be expected, he inveighed bitterly against all who had any hand in bringing Spies and his companions to the gallows, and it is perhaps unnecessary to say that the more violent were his diatribes the louder and harder was the applause of his listeners.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 12.—A large and enthusiastic Anarchist meeting was held in Lafayette Hall, this city, Saturday night to commemorate the execution of the Chicago Anarchists one year ago. The meeting was addressed by Albert Carrlin, of Chicago, who made a rousing speech, completely swaying the audience at will. He said that before many years anarchy would be firmly planted in this country. The Anarchistic song: "To Win the Toiler's Freedom I Will Pay the Price and Die," composed in honor of Parsons, brought forth tears and applause.

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—The Anarchists of Boston celebrated the anniversary of the Chicago executions by a large and orderly meeting in New Era Hall Sunday night. The hall was decorated with red flags, the stars and stripes, and pictures of the "martyrs." A picture of a gallows with victims hanging upon it, and the words "The Cross of the New Crusade" was also displayed, together with mottoes expressing devotion to the cause. Among the speakers were Victor Yarros and Rev. George Bond, of New York, and A. N. Simpson, of Chicago. The speeches were remarkably moderate in style, though revolutionary sentiments were expressed. Letters were read from John Swinton, Rev. John C. Kimball and William D. Howell.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 12.—A meeting was held Sunday afternoon at Turner Hall in memory of the Anarchists hanged at Chicago a year ago. About 400 Anarchists and Socialists attended. Speeches were made by Prof. T. H. Garside, of Baltimore, and Albert Carrlin, of Chicago. Carrlin breathed vengeance in every line. He called upon the women to teach their children to avenge the dead, and compared the execution of the Anarchists to the crucifixion of Christ.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 12.—Five hundred Socialists gathered at Liederkranz Hall Sunday night. It was an orderly crowd and no bloodthirsty speeches were made.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 12.—The Anarchists of this city met Sunday and listened to fiery speeches eulogizing the Chicago "martyrs" and condemning their executioners and society generally. There was no disorder.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Three thousand Socialists met in Hyde Park Saturday to observe the anniversary of the execution of the Chicago Anarchists and to denounce the suppression of free speech in Trafalgar square.

KNIGHT'S OF LABOR CONVENTION

The Question of Powderly's Re-Election Exciting Much Comment.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 12.—The general National assembly of the Knights of Labor, which will convene in this city Tuesday, will find an unusually large amount of important business ready for consideration, and consequently a long session is expected. The number of delegates expected to attend is 150, besides the general officers. The greater portion of the delegates will come from New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois. In the Knights of Labor circles in Pittsburgh interest centers upon the question as to whether Powderly will be a candidate for re-election as General Master Workman. The other men who are spoken of as candidates are: George McNeil, of Massachusetts, and W. T. Lewis, who is at the head of the miners' national district. There promises to be a lively fight for general secretary. The candidates will probably be Robert D. Layton, of Pittsburgh; John W. Hays, the present secretary, and General Treasurer F. Turner. The friends of Layton say that he will be elected if Powderly keeps his promise and presents his name at the General Assembly. On the other hand, it is argued that Powderly showed that he preferred Hays when he appointed him to succeed Charles H. Litchman, who resigned. Layton has a strong following, including all of the miners and the iron and steel workers. Turner is said to be strong in the East and also has supporters in the West.

HEAVY FIRE LOSSES IN PANAMA.

Flames Destroy Houses and Big Coffee Plantations—Many Children Perish.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—The steamer from Panama brings an account of a big fire which took place recently in the neighborhood of Villota, Columbia. The fire originated in stubble, and owing to a strong breeze the flames caught the houses of the town. Many children perished in the conflagration. Heavy losses of cattle and produce are reported. At Carthagena there had been great loss from drought and forest fires. All crops have been lost entirely, and in some places the fire has destroyed several valuable properties, including an immense sugar cane plantation, on which the buildings and 35,000 coffee plants were consumed by the flames. In some places the fire still continues. On account of this lamentable accident all grain and other articles of produce were sold at enormous prices.

To Wed on Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—It is settled that Joseph Chamberlain and Miss Mary Endicott are to be married next Thursday at Secretary Endicott's house on Sixteenth street. The wedding will be very private. Mrs. Endicott made the announcement and gave the invitations to Mrs. Cleveland and the ladies of the Cabinet on Thursday. Miss Endicott is very pretty and about twenty-six years old. Mr. Chamberlain and his bride will sail for England early in December.

Will Visit America.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—M. Edmund Lafayette, a member of the French Senate and the last living representative of the renowned General Lafayette, of American revolutionary fame, will attend the unveiling of Falguiere's statue of Lafayette in America. Senator Lafayette is a direct descendant of Washington's friend and comrade, and although he inherited the Marquis title he never used it.

Failure in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Albert J. Riley, of this city, dealer in mantels, grates and ornamental bronze goods, has confessed judgment in the sum of $40,386. The sheriff immediately levied on the stock. The total liabilities could not be ascertained. The creditors are mostly New Yorkers.

The Fat Stock Show.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The annual National Fat Stock Show will open in the Exposition building in this city next Tuesday evening and continue until the end of the following week. There will be a magnificent display of fat and choice cattle and other live-stock.

Di Murska Dying.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Mme. Ilma Di Murska, the Hungarian songstress, who is now in straitened circumstances, left for Europe on the steamship Eider. She is said to be dying, and her musical friends subscribed to send her away.

ILL-FATED MINERS.

Eighty of Them Lose Their Lives in the Kansas Disaster.

THIRTY-NINE DEAD BODIES RECOVERED.

Remarkable Mutilation of the Imprisoned Colliers—The Work of Rescue Proceeds Slowly—Piteous Scenes at the Shaft.

LATEST ACCOUNT OF THE HORROR.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Nov. 12.—Three more bodies were taken from the wrecked Frontenac mine Sunday, making thirty-nine altogether recovered. There are probably fifty more in the mine. Most of the victims were shockingly mutilated. There was nothing left of the first man brought up from the dreadful hole but a bleeding, pulpy trunk. The head and arms and legs had been blown off. Many of the searchers fainted at their work. Some of the victims were found buried beneath immense weights of slate, while others were discovered in groups and in all kinds of positions. Two men, who have not been identified, were so tightly locked in each other's arms that it was with great difficulty they were torn apart. Their eyes had been blown out by the explosion and their faces so horribly crushed that the bones were ground into the flesh.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Nov. 12.—The explosion in shaft No. 2 of the Cherokee & Pittsburg Coal Company's mine at Frontenac, Kan., Friday night proved to be the most appalling that has ever occurred in this country and brought death to the homes of dozens of families in Pittsburg, Frontenac and Girard. The explosion occurred at 5:30 o'clock, when the usual daily blast was fired. One of the blasts proved to be defective and shot a stream of flame into the air, igniting the gas and fine particles of the coal-dust, stirred up by two previous blasts, and in an instant a vast, terrific explosion took place which knocked all of the miners on their faces, hurled masses of coal upon them and shook every part of the mine. One hundred and sixty-four men were in the mine, and of that number about half were uninjured and found their way to the air shaft and escaped. The explosion was heard in every part of Frontenac and Pittsburg, and in a incredibly short time the road leading to the mine was thronged with wives, mothers and daughters of the miners with looks of terror depicted upon their faces hastening to the scene.

Hundreds of citizens and miners joined the throng of anxious relatives about the shaft, and as a fortunate miner emerged from the air shaft in safety he was seized, by the wife, mother or daughter and carried off home. On account of the air fan being damaged and the shaft blockaded by the debris the work of rescuing could not be begun until after midnight, when a rescuing party descended the shaft and began searching for the living. The most horrible sight met their gaze. The dead lay in piles in every entry on the north and west sides, while the passageways were strewn with dead men, mules and wrecked carts. The air was bad, and a number of the rescuing party were prostrated and had to be carried out, but their places were supplied with ready volunteers. In some entries every man was dead and mangled and burned in the most horrible manner. Here and there in protected spots a man was found yet alive, and he was quickly carried to the surface, where a large force of physicians had been organized to receive him.

Only fourteen of such were found, but the last one was not rescued until after daylight yesterday morning. They were all terribly burned and the greater part of them will yet die. Arrangements were then made to bring up the dead, and at noon that work was begun and carried on rapidly. Thirty-six bodies were found in three entries on the north and west sides, where the work had to be stopped until other parts of the mine could be so cured so that it could be explored and the dead recovered. It will require three days to get all the bodies, and, as many are burned and mangled beyond recognition, the names of all the dead will never be learned. The portions not explored contain a large number of bodies, which will swell the number lost to nearly eighty.

Various causes are assigned for the accident, but the best informed of the miners agree that it was the result of an overcharge of powder imperfectly put in by an unskilled miner in the third entry on the north side, where French and Italians were employed. In that part of the mine the damage of the explosion was greatest and not a single person in the entries near escaped death and their bodies were horribly mangled. The desolation in Frontenac is complete and general. One-half of the homes in that little village have lost their bread-winner, and the piteous cries of the stricken ones are a sad incident of the calamity. Many of the families are destitute, and a subscription for their benefit was started, and $400 subscribed in a few moments by employes in shafts Nos. 1 and 3.

One of the men who escaped said that he ran through the main way to the air shaft. The miners had gathered in bunches, and all were engaged in prayer, not even trying to escape. Shaft No. 2 was opened about two years ago, and is 190 feet in depth and employed a full force of about 200 miners, and is the largest of the three owned by the company at Frontenac.

The miners censured the company for employing incompetent miners, which they say made the operation of the mine so dangerous that many of the best miners had quit it and gone to other mines at Wear City and Escanaba. About a week ago a defective blast was fired, and it was only an accident that an explosion did not occur then. A number of the miners protested, and several refused to go into the mines again.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

Three Persons Consumed in a Burning Dwelling at Vernon Center, N. Y.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Frederick Knorr, his wife and 11-year-old daughter Anna perished in their burning dwelling at Vernon Center at 11 o'clock Sunday. Several attempts to enter the house and rescue the inmates were futile. The charred remains of the three were found in the cellar, the limbs being nearly burned off. The village has no adequate protection against fire.

A Free Pardon Offered.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—General Warren, Chief of the Metropolitan Police, has issued a proclamation offering a free pardon to any accomplice the Whitechapel murderer may have had, provided he will give information which will lead to the murderer's apprehension.

'Frisco Factories Burned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—McCue's carriage factory, Pringle's shoe factory and Fink & Schindler's furniture factory were burned Saturday night. Total loss about $100,000; insurance, $30,000.

How Doctors Conquor Death.

Dr. Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Dr. Acker's English Remedy for consumption were only used in time." This wonderful remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by Prentice & Evenson, druggists.

A SENSATION.

The people are getting crazy over the Moxie Nerve Food. All the nervous, weakly women are talking about it because it takes that terrible tired feeling away so quick and keeps it off on a cent's worth of the syrup per day. It is an artificially digested nerve food only. The men are as bad, for it breaks up the effects of dissipation and overwork in a few hours and no stimulation or reaction. It is a newly discovered process of preparing the food used by the nerves, artificially, for the purpose of giving people their full complement of nerve power, when the stomach is not able to digest it for that purpose. Overworked people take enormous quantities of it. It contains neither morphine nor alcohol.

THE SUMMER'S DONE.

Rip up the carpets, Nancy,
And pile 'em all away:
The boarders all has scooted,
And we'll close the place to-day
Them curtains on the winders,
They hain't no use to us;
We'll pack 'em in the linen-room
Where they won't git all muss.

The garden gate is wobbly—
That Smith gal give it wear;
Sumhow she cottoned to it,
Fur young Simpkins he popped there.
The spring-house door is kivered
With a lot of lovers' knots;
And dern me! if the fences hain't
A shadin' trystin' spots.

The fam'ly Bible's crowded
With a lot of sickly ferns,
And ev'ry nook and corner
Seems to locate lovers' yearns.
All things is topsy-turvy, Nance,
Since them folks went away;
They're sorter left an air behind
We'll resurrect to-day.

They was a lively passel
Of clever gals and boys,
And dern me! I am not the man
To envy them their joys.
They'll all come back next summer
Fur to make the old place gay.
Rip up the carpets, Nancy,
We must close the place to-day.

COUSIN PATTY.

Her Visit and the Bright Changes It Effected in Several Lives.

"Cousin Patty is coming to spend a month with us," said Mrs. Gray, looking up from the letter she held. Kate stood near, twirling her hat, impatient to be off, yet waiting for the news.

"O mother!" she exclaimed, in a tone not all of pleasure.

"It will be a treat to Patty to leave home," said Mrs. Gray. "We must try to make every day an enjoyable one."

"I can't do much," said Kate. "I shall be in school till the twentieth, and then—there's the graduates' picnic, mother! Patty couldn't go. It's just for the graduates and their friends."

"Patty will not be unreasonable. She is four years older than you, and ten years wiser, I am afraid. But you can take her to the organ recitals, Saturdays."

"Mother! I can't! Don't you remember how she looked when you took her to Haddam last summer? I can see her now leaning over the fence in her calico dress, with that funny paste-board bonnet on, calling the hens!"

"I remember how sweet and clean the house was, and how Patty had trained roses around the windows. I think even you, my Kate, appreciated the whipped cream she gave you."

"And the boiled dinners!" said Kate, with a grimace.

"Patty has a busy life," said Mrs. Gray. "You must do all you can for your cousin."

"Second cousin!" retorted Kate, "and a second cousin is no cousin at all unless one chooses!" With that, she caught up her books and hurried off to school.

Mrs. Gray had some quiet plans of her own for Cousin Patty's entertainment, and being an energetic housekeeper, found her cleaning all done, her rooms all in order, and her sewing out of the way, a full week before the expected arrival. All would have gone smoothly, no doubt, but that her quick foot tripped one morning on the stairs; a sprained ankle was the result, and she was confined to her room, the doctor said that it might be for weeks.

"And Cousin Patty is coming next Monday!" she exclaimed, in dismay. "Kate, you must write and ask her to put off her visit until July."

"I will," said Kate, readily, and she dashed off this letter:

"DEAR COUSIN PATTY: Mamma has sprained her ankle so she can't step on it for weeks, and it is going to be perfectly forlorn here till she is about again. So we shall have to ask you to put off your visit till a month or so later. I am in school every day now, and it would not be at all pleasant for you here until mamma gets well. She wanted me to write.
"Affectionately, KATE."

"But how will you get along with the work?" asked Mr. Gray. "You will have to stay out of school."

"Oh, no, papa!" said Kate, capably. "I shall get up an hour earlier, get breakfast and make mamma comfortable. Then Willy can wait on her till I get home."

"But the meals?"

"Now, papa, I hope you don't think my education so much neglected that I can't cook a steak or make coffee. Mamma has taught me that and more. You'll see how I'll manage."

For a few days things went tolerably. Kate, finding every thing in good order, was not hindered in her first efforts, and she made her father's coffee and broiled his steak with fair success. But as the week passed a cheerlessness crept through the house. The parlor was unswept, the dust gathered on the stairs, and many of the dishes and pans were pushed back without washing when Kate was in a hurry to go to school. She saw the growing disorder in the kitchen with disgust.

"I'll give them enough to eat, but I can't drudge over the other things," she decided. "My practising and my lessons are of the greatest importance."

Mrs. Gray's meals were prepared with sufficient care to keep her mind easy as to Kate's ability. But the pantry and closets showed a scene past description. The table was no longer daintily set, but things were hurried on haphazard, just in time for Mr. Gray to catch his morning car.

Dr. Burbank, as he made his frequent calls, noticed the stairs and doorway with a keen eye; the faded flowers in the vases did not escape him, nor the cobwebs in the corners of the hall.

"They say Miss Kate will graduate with honor," he thought; "but she needs another kind of schooling before she can make a shining, refined home for those who love her."

About four o'clock Saturday afternoon, while Kate was at the organ recital, a passenger stepped from the stage, entered the house quietly, and hearing Willy's voice upstairs, traced it to Mrs. Gray's room.

Cousin Patty had come.

"Why, of course I've come!" she replied to Mrs. Gray's exclamation. "Kate's letter made me come all the quicker, for I knew I could help you. I shall love to do it!"

She changed her traveling dress for a calico and a white apron.

"I'm glad Kate is out," she said, laughing; "I'm going to take right hold, and have supper ready when she comes."

She ran lightly down-stairs, kindled a fire, seized a broom, and soon cleared dust, cobwebs, crumbs and litter from the hall, dining-room and kitchen. Then she looked in the closets.

What a sight! A pan with odd bits of bread, dry and hard, with almost a whole loaf on top, drying like the rest; two pitchers nearly full of sour milk; some tough ends of steak left from the last meal; cold potatoes with the skins on; some sliced beets in a cracked saucer; a coffee-pot half-full of coffee and a tea-pot half-full of tea, both standing on the window-sill; the sugar-jar open, and the salt spilled on the shelf!

"Poor Kate!" thought Patty, "I'm so glad I came!"

It was almost six o'clock when Kate reached home. A surprise awaited her as she opened the dining-room door. The floor was clean, the table neatly set, and from the kitchen beyond came a savory smell of cooking.

"Mother! mother!" she called, really believing that her mother had by a miracle come down stairs.

A merry laugh from the pantry answered her, and out came Cousin Patty.

"I'm getting supper," she explained.

Kate blushed hotly: she remembered how she left the closet shelves. She had come in meaning to scrape all that rubbish into the fire and make a fresh start. She was too mortified to speak, but Patty went on explaining her arrival, and ended very winningly with:

"School-girls can't be expected to do housework and graduate with honors all in one breath, so I'm going to help you right straight up this Hill Difficulty!"

"I'll run out and buy something for supper," said Kate.

"Oh, I think we have enough," said Cousin Patty. "See!"

What Kate saw was a platter of hot buttered toast, with meat minced and seasoned, a pot of fragrant tea, a pan of golden-brown biscuit and a dish of potato salad.

"Why—where—how did you"—she began.

"I just took what I found," laughed Patty, "and I have made that bonny-clabber into as nice a cottage cheese as you ever saw."

Mr. Gray now came in. His face brightened at sight of his cheerful home, his good supper and faithful Cousin Patty. Up stairs his wife was radiant, and dear little Willy was resting from his cares, asleep on mamma's bed.

"What a difference one well-trained, energetic woman can make in a house!" thought Dr. Burbank on his next visit, "and when she has a bright, unselfish, loving heart as well—why—she makes a paradise!"

Kate gave up her cares thankfully, and became absorbed in her essay and her French examination. She really loved Cousin Patty now, but still she was so busy with her studies that she felt she could not stop to entertain her. So Patty worked and smiled and sang, giving out sunshine and demanding no return.

Kate graduated with honor, took a diploma and a prize, and received congratulations with grace and dignity. This excitement over, she prepared for the graduates' picnic. Cousin Patty made two kinds of cake, and three dozen chicken sandwiches for her to carry. The party was to go in wagons six miles down the river.

"I suppose you'll take Patty to the picnic to-morrow," said Mr. Gray, casually, at the supper table. Kate blushed and looked embarrassed.

"Well, now, Cousin Charles," said Patty, merrily, "you don't suppose I'm to be picked up and taken off against my will, do you? I shall stay with your wife to-morrow, sir, and Willy and I are going to make ice-cream, aren't we, Willy?"

Kate now managed to speak.

"Why, papa, I didn't think Cousin Patty would care to meet so many strangers, and I've invited Allie Rose. She's my very intimate friend, you know."

So with Allie Rose she started off the next morning, the two gayly carrying between them the well-provided basket to the place of meeting. Cousin Patty watched them go, and then turned smiling back to little wistful Willy.

At about ten o'clock Dr. Burbank drove up in a double phaeton, from which he and his mother alighted. He told Mrs. Gray he thought her now able to come down-stairs, and even to venture out for a ride.

In a flutter of surprise and pleasure, she allowed herself to be half supported, half carried to the low, easy carriage.

"There, that is right," said the doctor. "Now get your own hat, Miss Patty, and call Willy, and you two shall share the front seat with me."

Patty was soon ready, and off the party drove. The doctor took them out in the suburbs, and on through lovely country roads between woods and orchards.

"It doesn't tire you?" he asked Mrs. Gray.

"O, no, it does me good!" she replied, gratefully.

So he drove on farther, and they turned down the river road where the view of blue water with its little green islands was a picture to delight the beholder. On and on—another turn—and then a chorus of many voices.

"Why, Dr. Burbank! Dr. Burbank!"

And there they were at the graduates' picnic! The principal himself had invited Dr. Burbank to bring any friends he chose, and he had chosen his mother, his patient and Patty.

Dr. Burbank was every one's favorite, and his guests were made guests of honor. Patty sat under a grand old chestnut tree, while he brought her some of her own cake and sandwiches, and tarried so long on his errand that it was time for him to take his patient home again before he realized it.

That month's visit was a momentous one to Patty herself, to Dr. Burbank also, and to Kate, whose eyes were opened in those few weeks to see that more things than had yet entered into her philosophy went to the making up of a thoroughly lovable and attractive woman.—Youth's Companion.

Recently Appointed U. S. Minister to Belgium—Sketch of His Life and Career.

General John G. Parkhurst, of Coldwater, Mich., recently appointed by the President Envoy and Minister to Belgium, is a gentleman of varied attainments. He was born April 17, 1824, at Oneida Castle, N. Y. He received a classical education in the Oneida Academy, and entered upon the study of law in 1843, in the office of A. P. Grove, and remained there four years, when he was admitted to the bar. He practiced his profession in his native place for two years and then removed to Coldwater, Mich. Here he engaged actively in practice from 1849 to 1861, being for a portion of that time in partnership with Lieutenant-Governor George A. Coe. He was Secretary of the Democratic National convention at Charleston in 1860, and on his return home prepared the proceedings for publication. While engaged in this work he informed a friend of his conviction that the South was determined to set up a government of its own, that war would ultimately result, and that he expected his services would be needed by the Government of the United States. He was present at the first war meeting held in Branch County, and urged all loyal citizens to prepare immediately to defend the Union. As soon as he could arrange his domestic and business matters, he was appointed by Governor Blair Lieutenant-Colonel of the Ninth Michigan Infantry, and was mustered into service September 10, 1861, and in October reported to General Sherman in Kentucky.

In February, 1862, his regiment was ordered to engage in the advance at Nashville. In the battle of Murfreesboro, July 13, 1862, after holding his position eight hours against a force seven times his superior in strength, and losing one-third of his command in killed and wounded, he was taken prisoner and held for months. He was however, exchanged in time to report to General Thomas before the battle of Stone River. Owing to its record as a fighting regiment, the Ninth Michigan was chosen by General Thomas to be his provost-guard, and General Parkhurst was appointed Provost-Marshal of the Fifteenth Corps. From December, 1862, until the close of the war, he was on the staff of General Thomas as Provost-Marshal-General, having the Ninth Michigan and sometimes two other regiments and a battery as provost-guards under his command. In this capacity he engaged in all the battles of the Army of the Cumberland; had the supervision of the prisoners and the conduct of the military rations of the department of all prisoners of war, and all Provost-Marshals and their officers. For heroism and bravery in the battle of Stone River, Chickamauga and the Atlanta campaign, he was breveted as Brigadier-General of Volunteers May 22, 1865, and mustered out November 10 of that year.

General Parkhurst opened a law office in Nashville after he was mustered out, but remained there only a few months, when he returned to Coldwater. He was appointed United States Marshal of the Eastern district of Michigan by President Johnson, and held the position four or five months. He was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor on the Democratic ticket in 1866, the ticket being composed wholly of soldiers. He was special agent of the Treasury Department from 1867 to 1869. In 1872 he was nominated for Congress by the Liberal Republicans and Democrats of the Third district, and in 1876 was the Democratic candidate for State Treasurer. He has since been conspicuous in politics, being a delegate to almost every Democratic state convention, and also to one or two National conventions of the party.

Pride Has a Fall.

A fashionable church wedding among some summer sojourners was a June occurrence in a little New England village. The high hand with which things were carried on aroused the jealousy and sharpened the tongues of the native element, whose highest idea of a marriage ceremony had always apparently been to run over the border and have the knot tied unknown to one's friends.

Some seven hundred invitations were sent through the post-office, and ere long the acknowledgements began to arrive.

"Waal, I swan!" the country postmaster was heard to chuckle to his young and green assistant, "I reckon this'll take down the B—'s a peg. If here ain't all their nvites a-comin' back!"—Harper's Bazar.

The Population of Janesville.

We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs. Trial size free. Large bottles 50c and $1. DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit, Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless, and will effect a speedy and permanent cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. IT NEVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale by FRANK SHERER, Druggist, 43 W. C. B. EVANS, President.

—Republicans will make merry next Wednesday with considerable Democratic campaign material in the shape of torches and lanterns. The willingness of the democrats to sell off their stock and go out of business is touching to say the least.

—Freeport has an election bet that puts in the shade even croweating. As the result of the bet Mr. W. R. Telfer, cashier of one of the city banks, is to be spanked by L. M. Smith, a well-known business man, on the court house steps next Wednesday at noon. A kazoo band will furnish music.

—A grand victory for the Janesville manufacturers. The Janesville Hay Tool Company has won the suit in the United States circuit court for infringement. This places their hay carrier at the head of all other carries manufactured in the United States where it properly belongs It has been a long contested fight, and the boys are to be congratulated on their success.

—Dr. Vance, of Madison, will be at the Grand Hotel in this city next Wednesday. The doctor gives special attention to the treatment of diseases of the rectum. He uses the painless system of Brinkerhoff. The system is safe, sure and does not interfere with patient's ordidary duties.

—The supper served by the Rectory Society will be especially good on Tuesday evening, consisting of chicken pie, home made brown bread, baked beans, white bread, pickles, tea, coffee, chocolate, hot waffles, and maple syrup, for fifteen cents. Beside the supper, they will have fruit cake better than election cake, with a peculiar charm about it. Try and find it. Each piece only 10 cents.

—A Janesville woman went into a west side shoe store the other day and laughingly said, "I want a good republican pair of shoes." A pair was selected, and she took them home to try them on. One of them was a misfit—too small. She returned to the store with them, and soberly said: "I guess you gave a democratic shoe with this pair, because it is tight."

—Our old friend J. D. King, of Kansas City, Misouri, was a caller at the Gazette office this afternoon. He was accompanied by Mr. James A. Small, also lately "bounced" from the mail service by the Cleveland reform administration. Both gentlemen are jubilant over the republican victory, and the consolation that they will soon be even with the administration. Messrs. King and Small are willing to again enter the mail service should they be called upon by the new administration.

—A writer in the Chicago Tribune makes the following timely suggestion relating to jubilee processions:—Apropos of the projected ratification parade next week I would like to make a suggestion. Evening parades, unless brilliantly lit up, do not look well. The large patches of black with torches ahead and in the rear make it appear as though something were missing unless electric lights and illuminated stores along the route lend their light. I therefore suggest that each participant—and may there be tens of thousands!—bring his own light—a Chinese lantern. The color and glow would lend a brilliancy to the parade never seen heretofore. The committee of Arrangements might furnish the stick gratis or for a small considerrtion, say five cents.

—Mr. and Mrs. Irving Millard, of California, are in this vicinity visiting friends, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hoskins, of Harmony. Saturday was the third anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Millard, a large company of their friends assembled in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dano, first ward, at whose home Mr. and Mrs. Millard were spending the day, and properly celebrated the occasion. Music of a fine order, songs, and games served to while away the happy hours. Refreshments of an appetizing kind were served in abundance, and the occasion was one of great pleasure to all who participated. After witnessing the republican jubilee on Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Millard will take the early morning train for their California home, going by way of the Canadian Pacific road.

TOO MUCH DIME-NOVEL.

Thursday Night's Burglar a Boy of Sixteen.

Marshal Hogan and Officer Smith placed under arrest to-day the thief who raided F. P. Stannard's gun-store Friday night. The arrest was made at one of the city schools, the offender being a boy hardly more than sixteen years of age. He admitted his guilt, showed where most of the stolen property could be found, and admitted to the officers that he had read dime novels until his longing for rifles and revolvers became too strong to resist. He claims to have entered the store alone about nine o'clock.

The case has been adjourned until Nov. 21st, the defendant being held under five hundred dollars bonds.

OFF FOR THE WEST.

Rock County People Start for California To-day.

The first California excursion of the season left Janesville at noon to-day There were on board twenty-six passengers for the Pacific slope. Quite a number of these were from Dodge county. From Rock county there were Mrs. S. Herrick, Edward Sennott, A. G. Atwater, George Williams and J. S. Atwater. The train was in charge of Passenger Agent James Gibson.

A MOUNTED BRIGADE.

Horsemen to Take Part in the Jubilee Procession.

Several parties having expressed a desire to organize a mounted brigade for Wednesday evening's Jubilee Parade, the committee of arrangements requests all parties having horses to so appear. By reporting to the marshal early in the evening positions will be assigned.

DEATH OF ELLA YOEMANS.

The home of Mr. David Yoemans, of the town of Janesville, is shrouded in mourning on account of the death of his daughter Ella Yeomans, aged eleven years, which sad event occurred at ten o'clock Sunday morning. In their sad bereavement the family has the heartfelt sympathy of many friends. The funeral will take place from the house, five and a half miles from the city on the Magnolia road, at one o'clock to-morrow.

THE GREAT JUBILEE.

The Line of the Procession for Wednesday Evening's Parade.

People Along the Line of March Are Requested to Illuminate.

The line of march for the Jubilee procession on Wednesday, as finally adopted is as follows:—

The column will form on North Academy street near the passenger depot. The column will then move north on Academy street to Madison street; south on Madison street to West Bluff street; west on West Bluff street to Washington street; north on Washington street to Mineral Point Avenue; east on Mineral Point avenue to Jackson street; south on North Jackson and South Jackson streets to Homes street; east on Holmes street to South Franklin street; north on South Franklin street to West Milwaukee street; east on West Milwaukee street to North Main street; north on North Main street to Prospect avenue; east on Prospect avenue to North Bluff street; north on North Bluff street to Fourth avenue; east on Fourth avenue to Milton avenue; west on Milton avenue to East street; south on East street to South First street; west on South First street to South Main street; north on South Main street to the Myers house where the column will be reviewed by Governor-elect Hoard, Congressman Caswell and others.

The committee earnestly request the people along the line of march to illuminate their premises. A large assortment of fireworks has been procured to be exploded as the procession moves along. There will be several floats in the procession. The town of Harmony will be represented by a float and "Mary's Little Lamb," which has developed into a mighty big protection ram.

Parties desiring Chinese lanterns or fire works for Wednesday's jubilee will leave their orders with W. T. Vankirk this evening. They can be had at wholesale prices.

FUN FOR THE WINTER.

A Novel Form of Entertainment Becoming Popular.

The staid, middle-aged, "cultured" society people, says the Chicago Journal, are much interested at present in correct pronounciation. "Dictionary classes" have been formed and the meetings are amusing as well as edifying. It is an absurd spectacle to see fifteen or twenty college-bred men and women at a pronouncing contest. The big words do not dismay them half so much as those of smaller dimensions. It is surprising how many words in common every-day use are habitually mispronounced.

The other day a class had an amusing story about "Roland and Diena" given as an exercise. The first reader was boldly confident; but the teacher counted fifty-four errors of pronounciation in his paragraph of three hundred words. If any one be vainglorious of his correctness of speech, let him notice how be usually pronounces such words as comely, ribald grimaces, adamantine, combative, patron, coadjutant, vagaries, divan and placard. Surely the ordinary American, who may be ambitious for linguistic honors, will find a life-long study in his native language.

We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiries is. It's the best remedy that I have ever used." Our experince is, that where parties continued its use, it never fails to cure.—J. H. Montgomery & Co., Druggists, Decorah, Iowa.

I have used Ely's Cream Balm for dry catarrh (to which eastern persons are subject who come to live here.) It has proved a cure. B. F. M. Weeks, Denver, Col.

FOR CHILDREN OF ALL AGES.

What St. Nicholas Offers to the Young Folks.

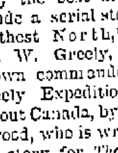
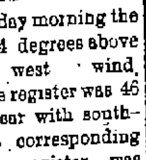
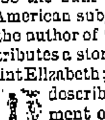
PEOPLE who have the idea that St. Nicholas Magazine is only for little children should look over the prospectus of that magazine for 1889, and they will discover that it is for children of all ages, "from five to eighty-five," as some one recently said of it. Indeed, while St. Nicholas is designed for girls and boys, it might almost be called a "family magazine," for the grown-up members of a household will find much to interest them in every number.

The editor, Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge calls the next volume an "all-round-the world year," because it is to contain so many illustrated papers about the world in general—not dry geographical papers, but stories and sketches and tales of travel and adventure by land and sea—and all illustrated by the best artists. The features will include a serial story, "How We Made the Farthest North," by Gen. A. W. Greely, the well-known commander of the Greely Expedition; a serial about Canada, by Mrs. Catherwood, who is writing a serial story for The Century this year; "Indians of the Amazon," by Mrs. Frank R. Stockton. There are many papers about Europe, including a Christmas story of life in Norway, by H. H. Boyesen; articles on Holland and the Dutch, by Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge; "The Queen's Navy," by Lieut. F. Harrison Smith, R. N., with illustrations of many of England's finest war ships; "The Winchester School," illustrated by Joseph Pennell; "English Railway Trains," by Wm. H. Rideing, etc., etc. The French papers include "Ferdinand de Lesseps and his two Ship Canals," and there are several interesting contributions on German, Italian and Russian subjects.



Under "Asia," comes "Boys and Girls in China," by Yan Phou Lee (a recent graduate of Yale): "Home Life in the East," by Mrs. Holman Hunt, and a number of papers about Japan. Under "Africa" there is a sketch of Henry M. Stanley, by Noah Brooks, and several stories about Egypt. Australia is not forgotten, nor the islands of the sea, and there are even to be stories of under the sea.





Of course the bulk of the contents will relate to American subjects, as usual. Mrs. Burnett, the author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," contributes a story of New York called "Little Saint Elizabeth;" there will be papers describing how the government offices are conducted, papers about athletics, amateur photography, etc. The full prospectus will be sent to any one who wishes to see it by the publishers, The Century Co., of New York.

The Graphic recently said of St. Nicholas, "the family without it is only half-blessed."

LA PRAIRIE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The La Prairie Sunday school at Grange Hall was dismissed for the winter months yesterday. The school has steadily grown since its commencement three years ago. Great credit is due the Supt. Mr. Henry Tarrant, Mr. Waite, Mr. Skinner, Mrs. Geo. Sherman, Mrs. Lowry, and others who after attending church in this city, or Shopiere, have every Sabbath afternoon, when others are resting, been laboring for the youth of La Prairie. It has been a custom to spread a banquet for the schools after closing, which will be served this evening.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for several years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C.—Get a trial bottle free at F. Sherer & Co.'s drug store.

FULTON.

All holding tickets are requested to come and witness the drawing and a general invitation is extended to all.

—Mr. E. Wixom says he is going out of the hog business. He has buried 60 recently.

—A complete surprise was perpetrated on Joe Bear and wife on Saturday evening, it being the 15th anniversary of their marriage. About thirty-five of their friends and neighbors came in on them as they were preparing the evening meal, which was deferred until a little later, when all sat down to a feast of good things. Mr. Russel in very appropriate way in behalf of their friends presented them with an elegant marble clock, a set of colored glass ware and electric lamp. Mr. Bear responded in a very short speech; words were inadequate to express his thanks, but actions spoke louder than words when he got to the table. We all realized that he was glad we had come. The company dispersed about two o'clock, whishing them many happy returns of their wedding day.

A nice line of bibles and prayer book at King & Skelly's bookstore.

A Double Catastrophe.

A stilly night,
The soft moonlight
O'er hill and hollow streaming,
Up high and dry
In the blue sky
The brilliant stars a-gleaming.

A man in bed
With aching head
To dreamland sweet departing;
A sudden jump,
A sounding thump,
A white robed form upstarting.

A garden wall,
A caterwaul,
A feline pair disporting;
A Tabby fair,
With glossy hair,
A gallant Tom a-courting.

A sudden crash,
A window-sash,
A wrathful exclamation!
A hissing sound,
An object round,
A yowl of consternation!

The morning light,
A dreadful sight!
In death two cold forms tangled;
A thing of wire,
The engine dire
By which the twain were strangled.

A scene of strife,
An angry wife,
A war of words, a tussle;
A woman sad,
A husband mad,
A household with no bustle.
